Interesting impression of the Mekong Delta

16 Dec 2018

We were two half days and therefore only one night on the ship Mekong Eyes, which in our view was quite sufficient to get an impression of the Mekong Delta. The welcome on the boat was very warm and in general the crew was very friendly and helpful. Our cabin was right at the front of the corridor and was therefore quiet. For us there was nothing to complain about on the ship. Also all meals were tasty and rich. The tours are very touristy (have some coffee), but that's okay, considering that people live part of this tourism. And after all, in the short amount of time we have received an extensive "sweeping blow" from the region. Our guides have managed the whole great and sometimes very humorous knowledge conveys. With all that, there was still plenty of time to relax on the deck chairs and enjoy the drive on the Mekong. Definitely worth the mini-cruise, as it takes a very long journey to and

on the Mekong

21 Aug 2018

Even though the travel time in the region brought us a lot of heavy rain, the crew always tried to make their stay as comfortable as possible. Many small landings to islands, markets and interesting places along the flood-leading Mekong made the stay varied, although many a bridge between ship and land was daring designed. The crew was very dedicated and helpful, unfortunately the English pronunciation was sometimes difficult to understand, so 1 star deduction. The on the ship with a lot of commitment offered food was delicious, varied and always fresh, especially the large and varied fruit plates at breakfast, at any time with offers good restaurants comparable. The cabins on the ship were small, but adequate and clean, unfortunately the air conditioning was above the head of the bed, which also affected my rating. Overall, recommended.
